DURHAM, NH - Democrat Helena Foulkes leads Independent Ken Block and Republican Aaron Guckian in the race for governor of Rhode Island and incumbent Democratic Senator Jack Reed holds a comfortable lead over Republican Raymond McKay in the race for Senate. The race for lieutenant governor is far closer, with incumbent Democrat Sabina Matos in a statistical tie with Republican John Loughlin. Outgoing Governor Dan McKee's job approval continues to fall. Rhode Islanders largely oppose efforts to re-launch trucking tolls and bipartisan majorities doubt the new Washington Bridge will be open by the newly-announced scheduled date in November 2028.

2026 Rhode Island Gubernatorial Election

Democratic nominee Helena Foulkes leads several challengers in the race for Rhode Island governor: 44% of likely voters say they would vote for Foulkes if the election were held today, 25% say they would vote for Independent Ken Block, 17% would vote for Republican nominee Aaron Guckian, 2% would vote for Independent CD Reynolds, less than 1% would vote for Independent Jasjit Gotra, 2% would vote for another candidate, and 10% are undecided. Support for Block has increased (+6 percentage points) along with support for Foulkes (+4) since August. Among Republicans, 42% support Guckian, and 41% support Block, among Independents, 43% support Block, 29% support Guckian, and 7% support Foulkes, while most Democrats (76%) support Foulkes.

Despite holding a comfortable lead, Foulkes is largely unpopular among voters: only 24% of likely voters in Rhode Island have a favorable opinion of Foulkes, 37% have an unfavorable opinion, 29% are neutral, and 9% don't know enough about her to say. Foulkes' net favorability rating among likely voters (the percentage who have a favorable opinion minus the percentage who have an unfavorable opinion) is -13. While trailing, Block is more popular: 29% have a favorable opinion of Block, 17% have an unfavorable opinion, 25% are neutral, and 28% don't know enough about him to say, yielding a net favorability rating of +12. Only 12% have a favorable opinion of Guckian, 27% have an unfavorable opinion, 22% are neutral, and 39% don't know enough about him to have an opinion. Most likely voters in Rhode Island don't know enough to have an opinion on Gotra (87%) or Reynolds (89%).

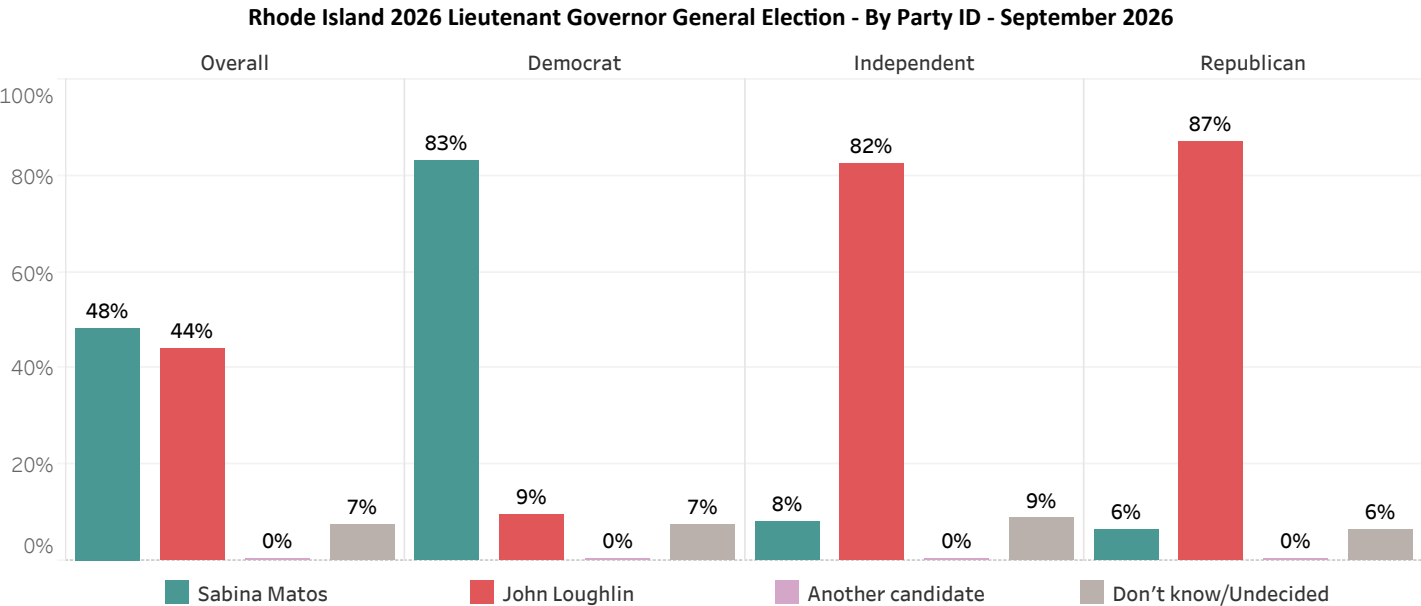

Rhode Island 2026 Gubernatorial General Election

* We ask that this copyrighted information be referred to as the Ocean State Poll, a States of Opinion Project, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center.

In contrast to the election for Rhode Island governor, the race for lieutenant governor in the state is quite close: if the election were held today, 48% of likely general election voters say they would vote for incumbent Democrat Sabina Matos, 44% would for Republican John Loughlin, less than 1% would vote for another candidate, and 7% are undecided. Eighty-three percent of Democrats would vote for Matos while most Republicans (87%) and Independents (82%) would vote for Loughlin.

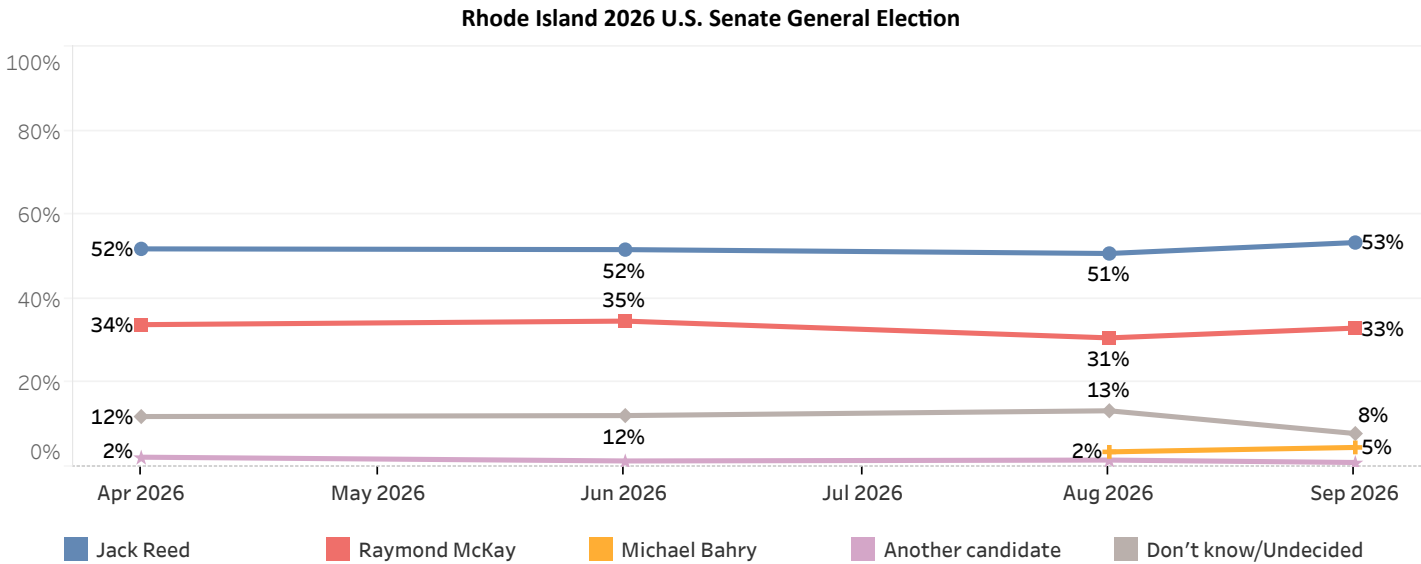

Matos is quite unpopular among likely voters: only 14% of likely general election voters in Rhode Island have a favorable opinion of Matos, 47% have an unfavorable opinion, 22% are neutral, and 17% don't know enough about her to say, yielding a net favorability rating of -34. By contrast, 23% have a favorable opinion of Loughlin, 11% have an unfavorable opinion, 8% are neutral, and more than half (58%) don't know enough about him to say, yielding a net favorability rating of +12.

2026 Rhode Island U.S. Senate Election

In the race for U.S. Senate in Rhode Island, incumbent Democratic Senator Jack Reed continues to hold a steady lead: if the election were held today, 53% of likely general election voters say they would vote for Reed, 33% would vote for Republican nominee Raymond McKay, 5% would vote for Independent Michael Bahry, 1% would vote for another candidate, and 8% are undecided. Ninety-one percent of Democrats would vote for Reed while 79% of Republicans and 52% of Independents would vote for McKay.

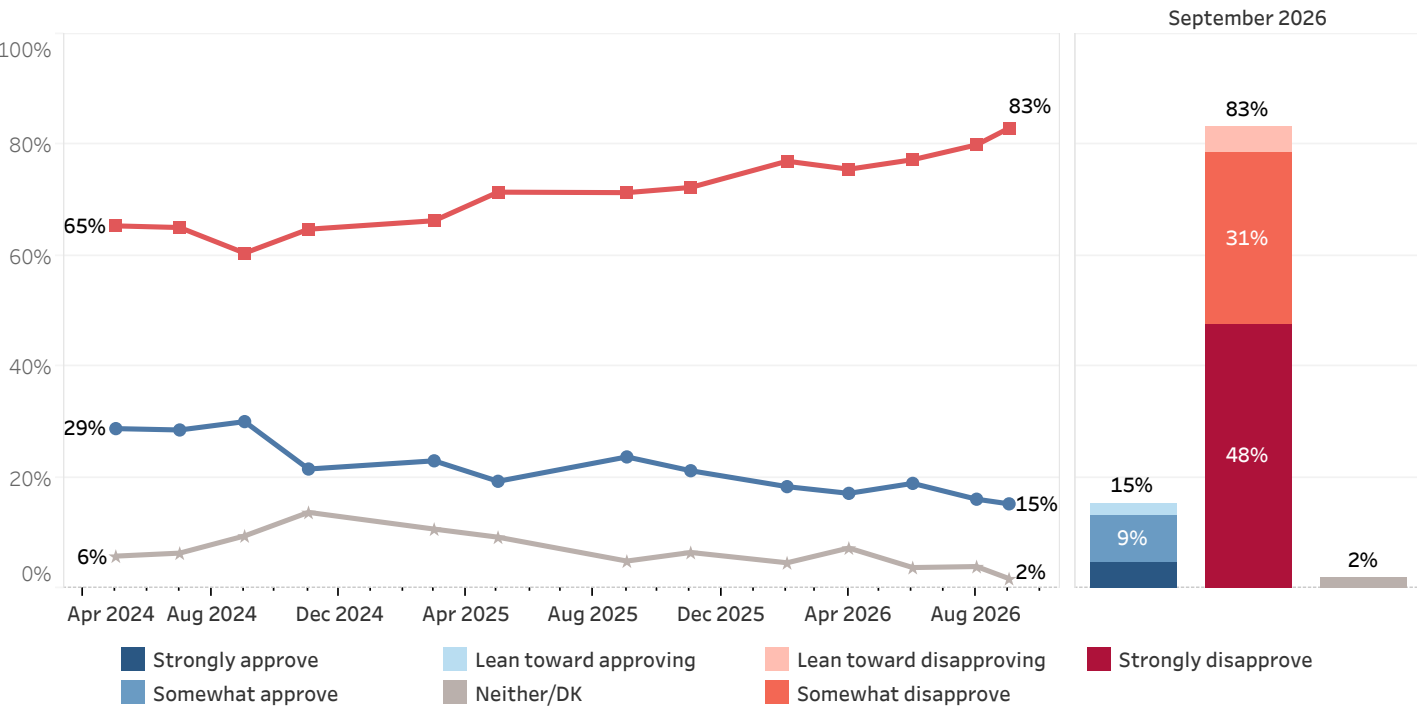

Reed is much better known than his competitors: 35% of likely general election voters in Rhode Island have a favorable opinion of Reed, 37% have an unfavorable opinion, 20% are neutral, and 9% don't know enough about him to say, yielding a net favorability rating of -2. Most Rhode Islanders don't know enough to have an opinion on McKay (65%) or Bahry (86%).

Assessment of Dan McKee

Having lost the Democratic primary to Foulkes, Governor Dan McKee’s job approval continues to decline. Only 15% of Rhode Islanders approve of McKee's handling of his job as governor, 83% disapprove, and 2% neither approve nor disapprove or are unsure. McKee's net approval rating is -68, a new low for his tenure in office. Twenty-three percent of Democrats, 10% of Independents, and 2% of Republicans approve of McKee's performance.

Trade

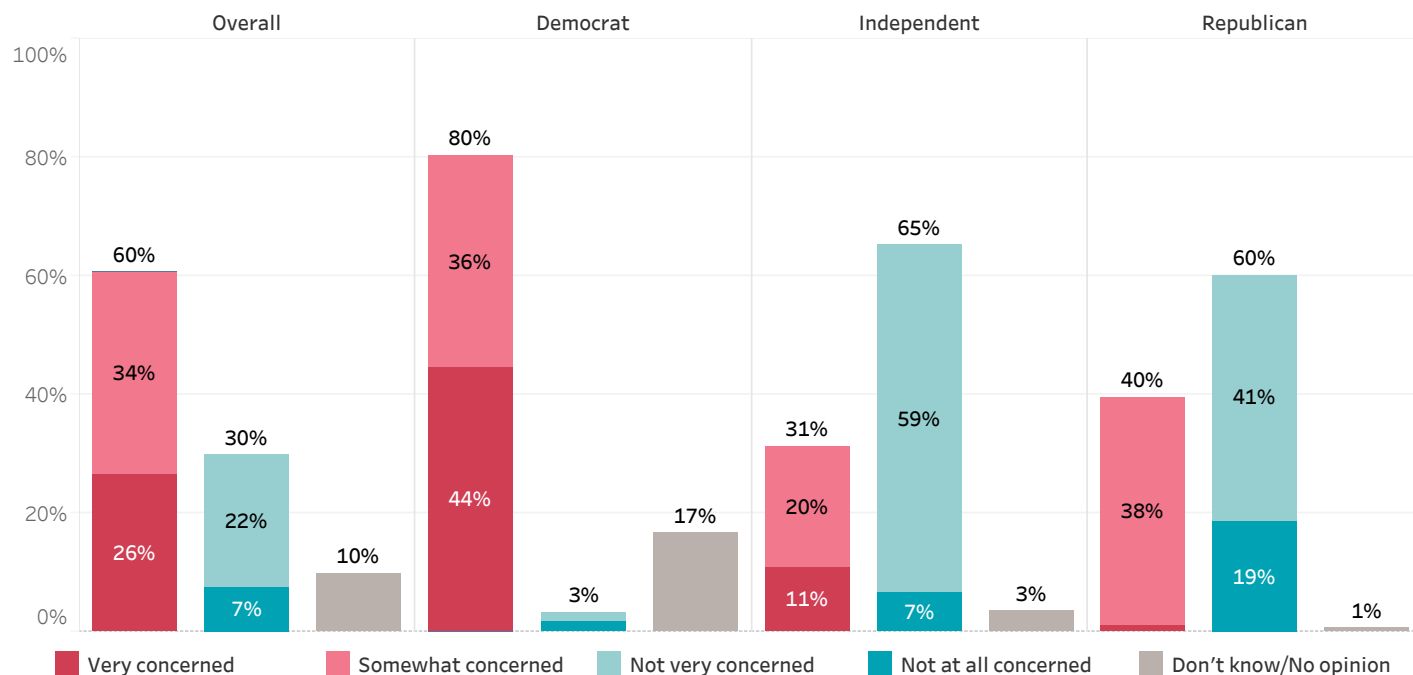

President Trump's trade negotiations with Canada broke down earlier this month, resulting in each country imposing tariffs on the other. More than half of Rhode Islanders (58%) strongly (53%) or somewhat (6%) disapprove of Trump's handling of trade negotiations with Canada, 33% strongly (22%) or somewhat (11%) approve, 5% are neutral or have no opinion, and 3% are unsure. Almost all Democrats (91%) disapprove of Trump's handling of trade negotiations with Canada, while majorities of Republicans (73%) and Independents (61%) approve.

Approve or Disapprove of Trump's Handling of Trade Negotiations With Canada - By Party ID - September 2026

There are concerns that trade issues with Canada will disproportionately impact New England. Six in ten Rhode Island residents (60%) are very (26%) or somewhat (34%) concerned about the impact of trade issues with Canada on Rhode Island, only 30% are not very concerned (22%) or not at all concerned (7%), and 10% don't know or have no opinion. Four in five Democrats (80%) are very or somewhat concerned about trade issues with Canada while majorities of Independents (65%) and Republicans (60%) are not very or not at all concerned.

State Issues

In 2018, Rhode Island began levying tolls on trucking to fund road repairs in the state. These tolls were blocked by courts in 2022 but are set to be reintroduced in 2027. However, only 32% of Rhode Islanders believe the state definitely (10%) or probably (22%) should reintroduce trucking tolls, 55% say the state should definitely (37%) or probably (19%) not do this, and 13% are unsure. Most Republicans (85%) and Independents (85%) think the state should not reintroduce trucking tolls while nearly half (49%) of Democrats think the state should do so.

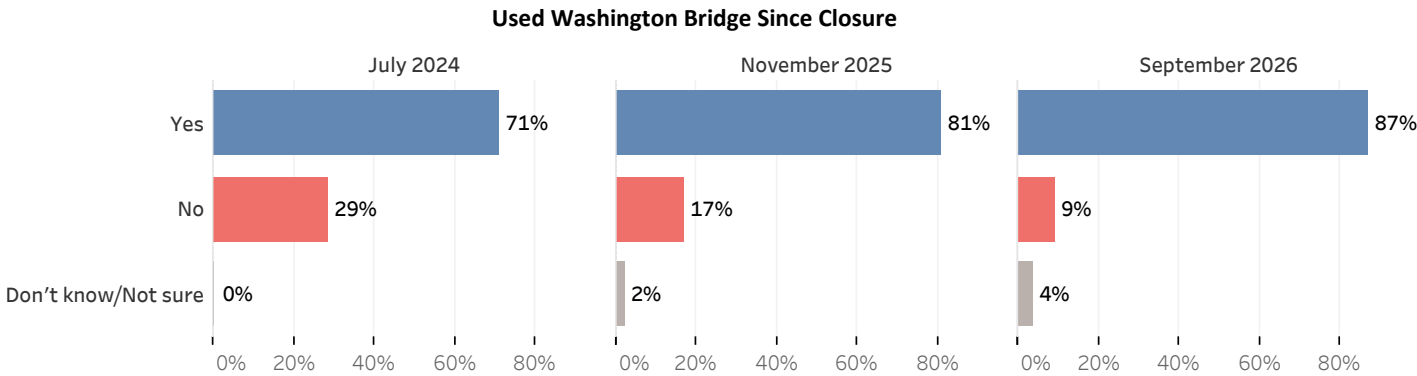

Should Rhode Island Reintroduce Trucking Tolls - By Party ID - September 2026

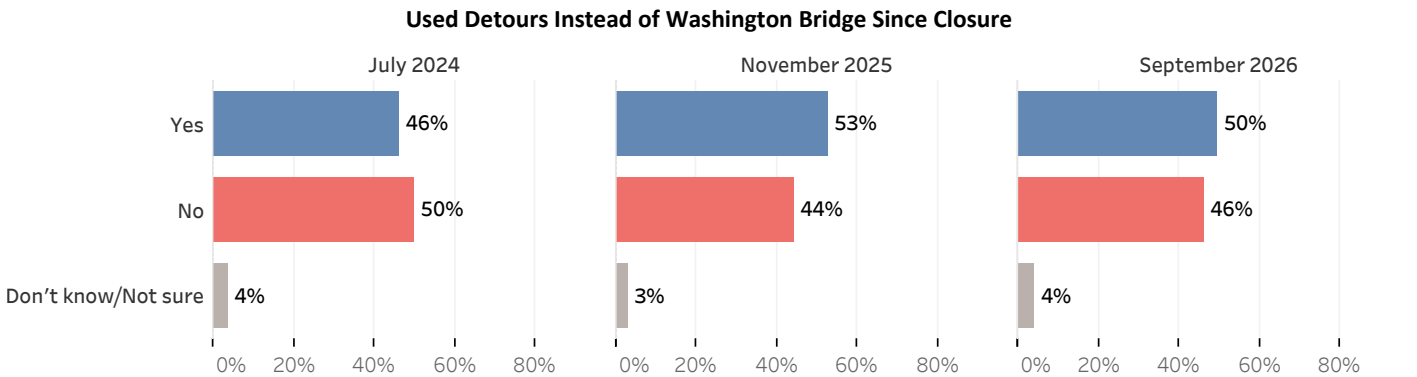

Before the closure of the westbound part of the Washington Bridge between Providence and East Providence in December 2023, 13% of Rhode Islanders say they used the bridge once a day or more often, 22% say they used it a few times a week, 4% used it once a week, 7% used it once a month, 23% used it a few times a month, 20% used it a few times a year, 3% used it less often, 4% had never used the Washington Bridge, and 3% are unsure.

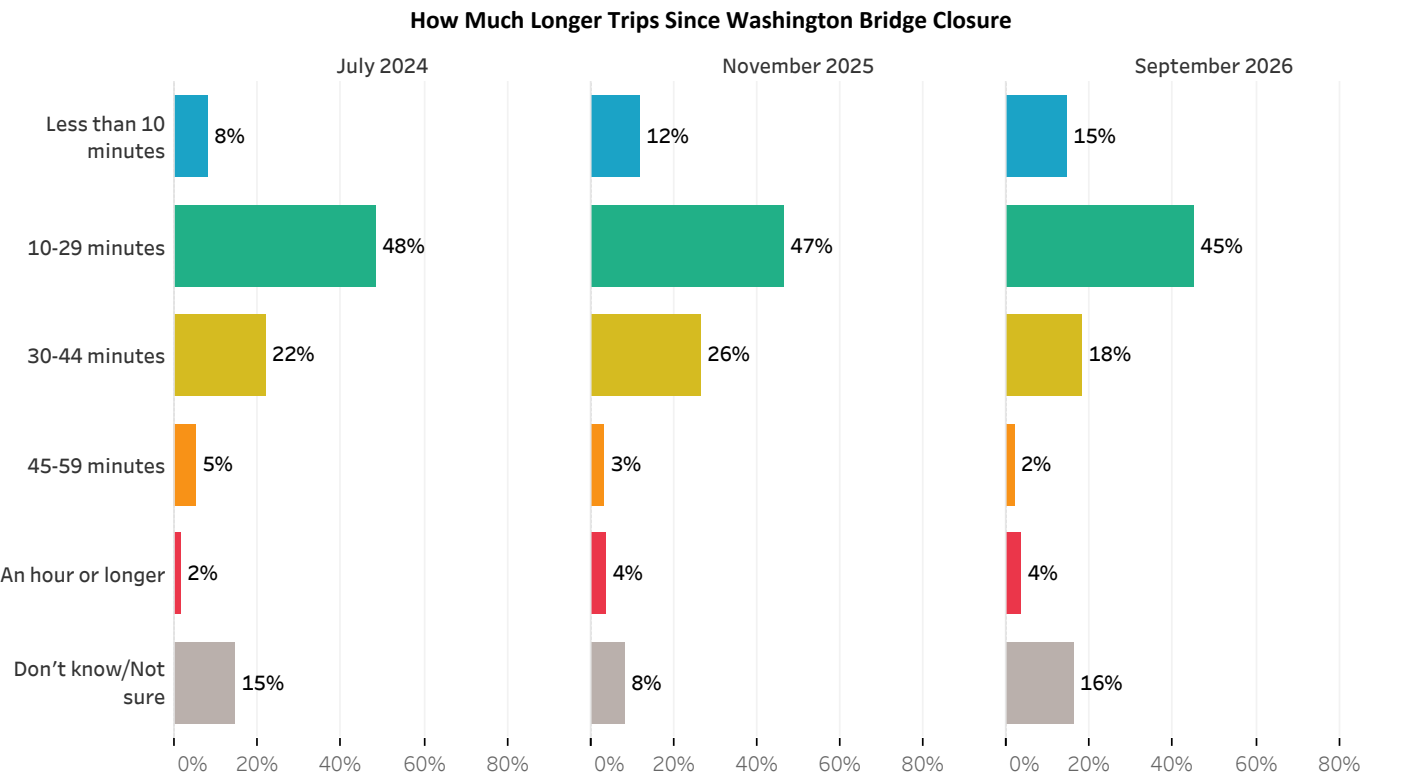

Eighty-seven percent of Rhode Island residents say they have used the Washington Bridge since its closure, 9% have not, and 4% are unsure. In November 2025, 81% reported having used the bridge since its closure while in July 2024 71% said the same.

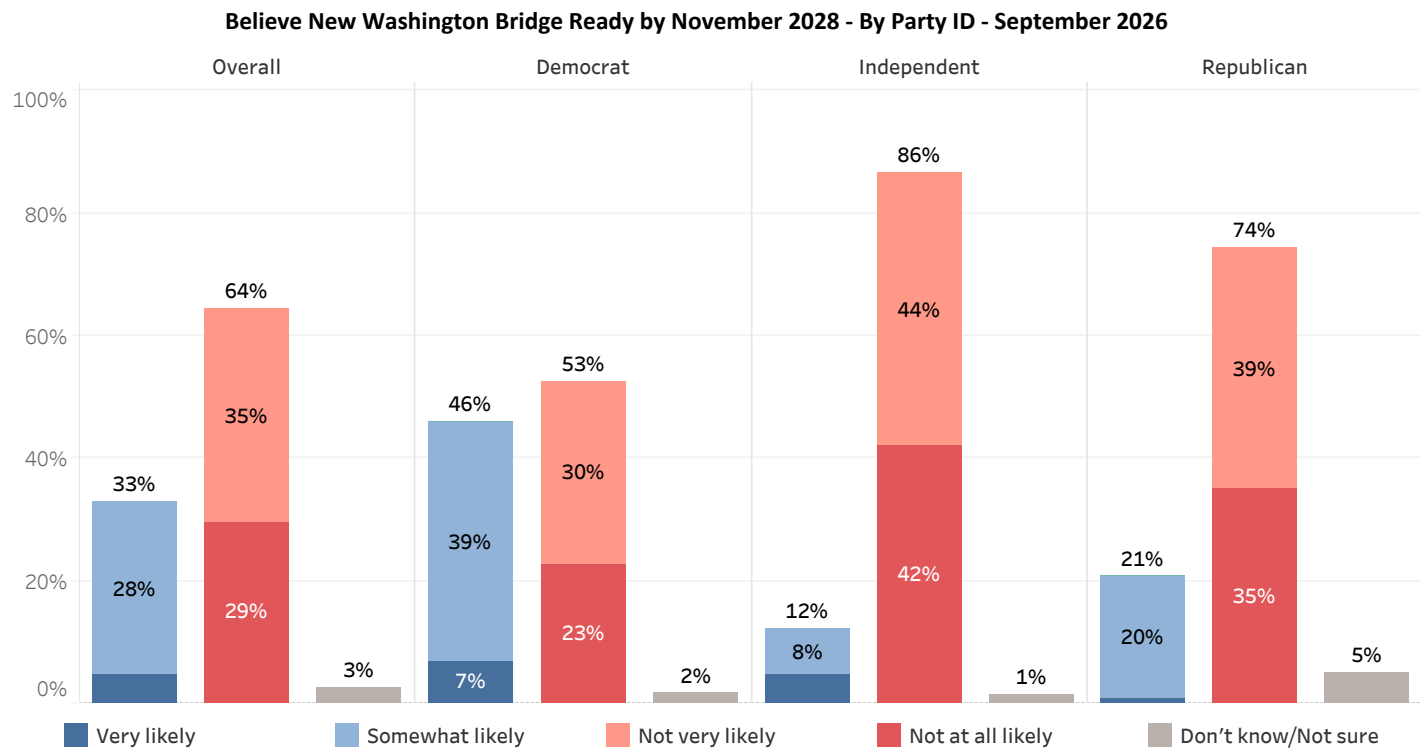

Half of Rhode Island residents (50%) say they have used detours instead of the Washington Bridge since its closure.

Since the closure of the westbound part of the Washington Bridge, 15% of Rhode Islanders say that their trips where they use the bridge or detours to avoid it take less than 10 additional minutes, 45% say their trips take 10-29 minutes more, 18% say their trips take 30-44 minutes more, 2% say their trips take 45-59 minutes more, 4% say their trips take an hour or longer more, and 16% don't know or are unsure. Results are largely similar to those provided by Rhode Islanders in July 2024 and November 2025.

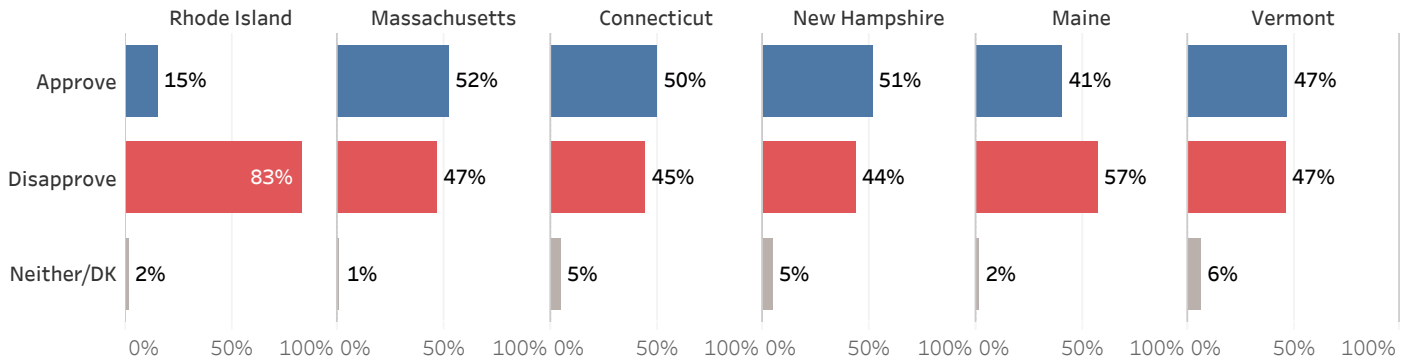

The Rhode Island Department of Transportation says the new Washington Bridge is scheduled to open to traffic on November 3, 2028. However, only one-third (33%) of Rhode Islanders think it is very (5%) or somewhat (28%) likely that the bridge will open on time, 64% think it is not very (35%) or not at all (29%) likely to open on time, and 3% are unsure. Majorities of Independents (86%), Republicans (74%), and Democrats (53%) think it is not very or not at all likely that the bridge will open on time.

Notable State Differences - September 2026

Governor McKee is considerably less popular than other governors in New England.

Ocean State Poll Methodology

These findings are based on the latest Ocean State Poll, conducted by the University of New Hampshire Survey Center. Ocean State Panel members were sent an invitation to complete the survey and 608 completed the survey online between September 17 and September 21, 2026, yielding a response rate of 30%. The margin of sampling error for the survey is +/- 4.0 percent. Included in the sample were 598 likely general election voters (margin of sampling error +/- 4.0 percent). In addition to potential sampling error, all surveys have other potential sources of non-sampling error including question order effects, question wording effects, and non-response. These MSE's have not been adjusted for design effect. The design effect for the survey is 2.7%.

The Ocean State Panel is a probability-based web panel of Rhode Island residents. Approximately 2,500 Rhode Island adults have been recruited from phone, text-to-web, or mail-to-web surveys sent to randomly-selected phone numbers or addresses. Panelists are then asked to participate in online surveys sponsored by the UNH Survey Center.

Data were weighted by respondent sex, age, education, and region of the state to targets from the most recent American Community Survey (ACS) conducted by the U.S. Census Bureau, as well as party registration levels provided by the RI Secretary of State and to 2024 election results in Rhode Island. Surveys were taken in English, all respondent data included passes Qualtrics data quality checks, and single-use survey links were used to prevent multiple submissions by respondents.

The number of respondents in each demographic below may not equal the number reported in cross-tabulation tables as some respondents choose not to answer some questions. Due to rounding, percentages may not sum to 100%. All coding of open-ended responses is conducted using AI coding software. Should Rhode Island Reintroduce Trucking Tolls

In 2018, Rhode Island began levying tolls for trucking to fund road repairs in the state. These tolls were blocked by courts in 2022 but are set to be reintroduced in 2027. Generally speaking, do you think Rhode Island should or should not reintroduce trucking tolls or do you not have an opinion on this?
